Miss Conover

She had given her name as Kate Conover, and had come to accept the position of governess in the family.

Presently the lady of the house knocked and entered the room. Evidently she was much pleased with the new arrival, for her eyes rested upon a sweet, frank face, a graceful, compact form and an attire as neat as it was sensible.

"I hardly expected to find you so young," Mrs. Cameron said. "No?" asked Miss Conover. "Still—you will find me proficient." "Oh, to be sure," Mrs. Cameron hurriedly said. "Please walk down to breakfast."

The breakfast room reached, she said: "Miss Conover—Brice Rutherford, my nephew."

The name startled the young lady so much that her self-possession almost failed her. She bowed in recognition of the introduction, and then turned her attention to the two children who were to be under her charge.

During the morning meal she cast several furtive glances at Brice Rutherford. He was young, handsome, refined, with perhaps rather an exalted opinion of himself.

It was not remarkable that during the summer he began to take considerable interest in the pretty little governess. He was thrown almost daily in her society, and her frankness was especially charming to him because he was not much disposed to be frank himself.

His interest at last assumed a more fervent shape and finally led him to make a declaration of love. A look of triumph crossed her face, but it escaped his notice, for she was seated in the shadow.

"This isn't unexpected," she replied, "but—"

"You see, you don't know anything about me," she said, starting in afresh.

"Oh, but I flatter myself I do," was his reply. "I never act without proper consideration."

"I mean as to my—my—antecedents," Miss Conover said. "As to my—my—purposes—"

"I don't care about your antecedents," he interrupted, "and as for your purposes I hope one of them will be to make me as happy as you can!"

"Oh, to be sure," replied she. "Well, I am glad that we understand each other, and—"

"But I don't know that we do," interrupted she in turn. "I know that you proposed to me, but I cannot recall that I accepted you."

"Oh!" he ejaculated, with a crestfallen look.

Miss Conover laughed softly and said, "I am willing to hold your offer under advisement."

"That will not satisfy me," he replied.

"But it must," rejoined she. "I think I am according you a great deal."

"Well, maybe you are," he said with a grimace. "I can't say that I'm excessively grateful."

"I'll give you my answer in September," Miss Conover replied. "That isn't far off, you know."

"Well, no, it isn't," assented he, and that closed the conversation.

He stared at the letter in a dazed way. "How did Miss Conover get hold of it?" he asked himself, "and what was her object in redirecting it to me? She promised to give me her decision."

He broke the line of his thought with a sharp exclamation. "I've solved the mystery," he muttered. "Kate Conover is Rose Ralston. She is a little flirt and fancies that she's got even with me."

He closed his conjectures with an expression which was near profanity.

"Aunt Rachel," he said, when he had rejoined his aunt, "do you know that Miss Conover is Rose Ralston?"

"Impossible!" exclaimed Mrs. Cameron.

"But, aunt, she is."

"Did she say so?"

"No. Do you think her coming here was—was—planned?"

"Why, no, Brice. It came about by accident. She didn't know you were here or that I am your aunt."

"You are sure of that?"

"Of course I am. What does she say in the letter?"

"It isn't from her."

"Why did she masquerade here under another name?" evaded Brice.

"Why should she masquerade anywhere?"

"My dear boy, I can't answer that," Mrs. Cameron said. "I am not convinced that she did."

"Well, it doesn't matter much anyhow," Rutherford rejoined, which was a bold falsehood, for he knew that it mattered a good deal to him.

A year later found Kate Conover standing in a grove in the Yellow-stone park. She was looking down a long vista of charming scenery, her face bronzed, her form plump and the blue in her eyes deeper and sweeter than ever.

She heard footsteps behind her, and on turning around beheld a handsome, sun-browned tourist. A second, and her face grew very red, for the man was Brice Rutherford. She had punished him, to be sure, but she had also punished herself.

"I'll now take your answer," he said.

"What answer?" she asked, with renewed blushes.

"This is September," he reminded.

"Oh!" ejaculated she. "So it is, but I named last September. I left you my answer."

"But there wasn't anything in it for me, or else I was too stupid to see it. It may have implied—"

"Yes, it implied," she interrupted, with a charming little laugh.

"Oh, bother that idiotic letter!" Brice cried.

"And your stumpy, romping, freckled faced tomboy sweetheart, Rose Ralston," added she, quoting from the letter.

A Famous Rosebush. In the town of Hildersheim, in Germany, is a rosebush said to be 1,000 years old and sprouts from its branches have realized fabulous sums. Some years ago a rich Englishman offered £50,000 for the entire tree, but the sum was indignantly refused. This wonderful plant clings amid thickly grown moss against the side of the famous old Church of St. Michael. It is claimed that it has bloomed perennially since the days of King Alfred, and this statement has never been disputed, for its record has been as carefully kept as the pedigree of the bluest blooded family in the kingdom. It is supposed to have been discovered through the medium of King Louis of Hildersheim as far back as 1022.

When Sandow poses and the muscles ridge his back and knot his arms, we think we have before us the very secret of strength in those magnificent muscles. But we haven't. Starve Sandow, or what is practically the same thing, let him be dyspeptic, and his muscle would soon fall. Strength is made from food properly digested and assimilated, and no man is stronger than his stomach, because when the stomach is diseased digestion and assimilation are imperfect.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food so that the body is nourished into perfect health and strength.

"I had what my physician called indigestion. He gave me medicine for the trouble but it did me no good," writes Mr. W. H. Wells, of Wilford, N. C. "I wrote to Dr. Pierce and stated my case. He sent me a descriptive list and brought six bottles of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and commenced taking it. A few days later I noticed a great change. I felt like a new man. Before I began the use of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I suffered greatly with pain in stomach, my nerves seemed all run-down, I was very thin in flesh, but now can eat heartily and sleep good at night."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send twenty-one one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or thirty-one stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

FRED'K. T. DUHRING

The Democrats of Sonoma county have placed at the head of their ticket the name of Frederick T. Duhring of Sonoma as their nominee for State Senator. The Democrats could not have made a more wise or better selection in all Sonoma county.

Mr. Duhring is essentially a man of the people and a good citizen. He is well educated, being a graduate of the State University and well versed in commercial law. He is also a wide awake, progressive business man and enjoys the confidence and esteem of every one who has ever had business dealings with him. He is a generous man, too, and his game has for years headed almost every subscription list for charitable and other purposes in this valley. Casting politics aside it is with real pleasure that we can conscientiously endorse Mr. Duhring as an upright, honorable and progressive citizen who if elected will represent the people of Sonoma county in our State Legislature with honor, ability and dignity.

FOR ASSEMBLYMAN.

Victor Piezzi, Republican nominee for Assemblyman Fourteenth District, was in town a couple of hours last Sunday, a flying visit as it were. Mr. Piezzi is well known to many of the citizens of this valley, being a cousin of Mr. Victor Sartori, the popular dairyman of Fairville.

Mr. Piezzi is a prosperous farmer and a pioneer resident of Sonoma county. His farm is located on the Sebastopol road a few miles from Santa Rosa. He is a representative citizen in every sense of the word. Years ago he married Miss Wiley, a daughter of one of Sonoma's early settlers and has reared and educated a family of bright children.

Mr. Piezzi, although born in Switzerland, has lived in Sonoma county almost all his life, coming here when fourteen years of age. Being a practical farmer and dairyman no better man could be sent to our State Legislature to represent the interests of Sonoma county in general and this section in particular.

A vote for Mr. Piezzi will not be misdirected. He is of the people, for the people and as such would surely represent the people.

We notice that the Democrats of Napa county have nominated our friend, Hon. Henry C. Gesford, for Superior Judge. Mr. Gesford is in every way qualified for the position, being an able lawyer and a fair-minded and well-balanced man. The people of Napa county are in deed fortunate in having a chance to elect such a man.

The Trustees of the California Home meet to-day at Eldridge. It is said that the newly-appointed Trustees, Father Lyon and the Rev. Mr. Bane, will vote to install Dr. Dawson as Superintendent in place of Dr. Lawlor. With a "Lyon" on the Board and Capt. Jack Harrington with his gun there ought to be lively times up there to day.

8 Cents

She was thin and weak and paid one dollar for a bottle of Scott's Emulsion, and by taking regular doses had gained twelve pounds in weight before the bottle was finished.

Eight cents a pound is cheap for such valuable material. Some pay more, some less, some get nothing for their money. You get your money's worth when you buy Scott's Emulsion.

We will send you a little use, the ad. ended in the "When the baby is do." It must be unscrewed and cool place under a tap. If chemists, does not thrive on fresh milk, York should be boiled.

HAVE A CARE MR. LENNON

A WASHINGTON dispatch under date of October 24, says:

"Postmaster General Payne has addressed a circular letter to officers and employees of the Postoffice Department and others concerned regarding the extent of the prohibition put by the department on political activity on the part of post office employees. The letter says: 'Postmasters or others having unclassified positions are merely prohibited from using their offices to control political movements, from neglecting their duties, or causing public scandal by political activity.'

"A person in the classified service has an entire right to vote as he pleases and to express privately his opinion on all political subjects, but he should take no active part in political management or political campaigns."

For Sale—A $50 life scholarship in Ayers' Business College, San Francisco, will be sold at a sacrifice. This is the best Business College on the Pacific Coast. Apply at this office.

A SUFFERING WIFE

Saved by the Suggestion of a Thoughtful Husband.

A man can rarely enter into a woman's sufferings when they are caused by diseases peculiarly feminine. Even when the character of the suffering is graphically described the man cannot appreciate the force of terms for which he has no equivalent in his experience. All he can do is to sympathize and suggest. But when a woman hears the story of a woman suffering every word has its just weight with her. Even more, she reads between the lines of the story and understands the unspeakable anguish and dread begotten of extreme nervousness and weakness. No woman can read the sorrowful story of suffering told below by Mrs. McAdoo without heartfelt sympathy with her condition and heartfelt gratitude for her cure.

"It is with pleasure that I add my testimony to that of others, hoping it may induce others to avail themselves of the benefit of your invaluable medicines," writes Mrs. R. G. McAdoo, of Whiting, Mississippi County, Missouri. "Nearly a year ago I was taken down with a severe case of sickness. I suffered untold pains and misery such as no one can describe. Was confined to my bed most of the time. I could turn no way without it giving me pain. I was afflicted with falling of the uterus and ulceration. Had a bad drain all the time, and dragging-down pains through my back and hips; no appetite; bowels were constive; had smarting, itching and burning in the vagina all the time. My head and temples, back of my neck, shoulders and sides pained severely. Had kidney trouble, too. I ached all over; had cold feet and hands all the time. I suffered a great deal with pains in both sides, and much tenderness on pressing over the uterus. I was bloated terribly at times in bowels and limbs. I could not sleep; noise it seemed would kill me. I could not get on my feet alone. I cannot describe the constant pain to which I was subject every moment of my life. Was so reduced in flesh and strength that I could scarcely walk across the floor any of the time. I was treated by good doctors, but they just gave me something to ease me for a little while at a time. They said they could not cure me or do anything that would greatly benefit me. My husband suggested one day that I try some of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I asked him to get me a bottle of it. He gave me a tablespoonful, and it soon eased me. He then wrote to Dr. Pierce in regard to my case. We have one of the Common Sense Medical Advisers." Dr. Pierce told my husband for me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' and also his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Extract of Smart-Weed,' according to directions. I did so, and began to improve fast. If anyone doubts this give name and address. I will always recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines and his advice to all sufferers from diseases to which females are subject. He has been as kind as a father to me; advised me as a child. I believe if my husband had not written to Dr. Pierce last fall and commenced giving me his medicine, I would have died in a short time."

HUSBAND WISER THAN DOCTORS.

When the doctors pronounced his curable, it was the husband who suggested the trial of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It was the prompt benefit derived from the use of "Favorite Prescription" that induced the husband to consult Dr. Pierce by letter on his wife's behalf. The result was a complete cure. This result commonly follows a fair and faithful trial of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It was made to cure women's diseases and it does what it was made to do. It has cured hundreds of thousands of weak and sick women and cured them perfectly and permanently. A great number of these cures have been effected after doctors had pronounced the sufferer incurable and condemned her to a martyrdom of misery for the term of her natural life. "Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It cures nervousness, headache, backache and other ills which have their cause in womanly diseases.

"I write to let you know the great benefit I have received from the use of your medicines," says Mrs. Sidney B. Oakes, of Whitwell, Fitzhugh Co., Va. "I am so grateful to you for your advice. When I commenced your medicines I had been treated by different doctors for three months or more, but would receive partial relief for a short while and then would be worse than before their treatment. Was confined to my bed most of the time. At the time I commenced your treatment my left side was completely paralyzed. Did not appetite, no desire to eat anything; bowels constive all the time. Nerves were all unstrung, so I could not hear the least noise. I also suffered from dizziness and female weakness. But thanks to my doctor and you, after following your advice, I am able to do all my washing, sewing and house work in general. I haven't had a spasm in two months. Left off medicines about one month ago. Didn't think it necessary to continue them longer. I have taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' Every sick woman especially if suffering from disease of long standing is invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Sometimes a dealer tempted by the little more profit paid by less meritorious medicines will endeavor to foist on his customer a substitute for 'Favorite Prescription.' There is nothing just as good for weak and sick women as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

BIG AND GOOD.
"Little and good" the common saying runs, but that things may be both big and good is proven by Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps if the cloth-bound volume is desired or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great misery is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite. To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic.

"I was afflicted with catarrh. I took medicines of different kinds, giving each a fair trial; but gradually grew worse until I could hardly hear, taste or smell. I then concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking five bottles I was cured and have not had any return of the disease since." EUGENE FORBES, Lebanon, Kan.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Narrow Escape of Throat Ladies and a Little Boy

Last Tuesday while Mrs. Amelia Bates, Mrs. Pauline McMullin, Mrs. Mary Garhart and little Joe McMullin were out riding in a two-wheeled carriage one of the wheels came off as they were passing N. E. Knight's home in the southern suburbs of town. The occupants of the carriage were hurled to the ground but fortunately escaped injury. The horse was a gentle one and stopped short in the middle of the road when the wheel came off. Mr. Knight came to the rescue of the ladies and replaced the wheel on the axle and they proceeded on their way without further incident.

THE CITY TRUSTEES

What Was Done at Their Meeting Wednesday Night

The City Trustees met in regular monthly session last Wednesday evening. All the members were present with J. E. Poppe in the chair.

This meeting, like all previous meetings, which have been predominated by Trustees Poppe, Breinbach and Pinelli the past six months, went for naught in so far as lighting the town these moonless nights, and these Trustees have evidently doomed Sonoma to darkness so long as they hold the balance of power. As Trustee Poppe is quoted as saying: "I will rule this town or I will ruin it." It is true, as asserted by one of our most conservative business men, that at least $2,000 has been lost to the business men of Sonoma from the summer visitors to the valley by the shutting down of the street lights last May by those Trustees who, in order to gratify a personal spite against our local electric light company, would "rule or ruin."

A day of reckoning, however, is not far distant, and when that day comes the good people of Sonoma will forever be delivered from the mismanagement of its public affairs by those who would rule the town to gratify a personal spite and not in the interests of the whole people whose public servants they are. But seal why discuss these unwholesome theories?

With this digression, we now get down to the actual business transacted by this unique Board of City Trustees, two members of whom only—Trustees Holz and Ciucci—are entitled to the confidence and esteem of the people who pay the taxes.

The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and approved the following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

Jas. H. Albertson, salary, etc.	$16.00
D. Valente, services	9.45
H. H. Granice, printing	15.79
L. Breinbach, hauling gravel	63.00
J. M. Staden, sprinkling streets	64.74
R. McDowell, hauling gravel	9.85
L. Breinbach, repairs	50
Total	$179.83

On motion of Trustee Breinbach the Street Committee was authorized to have Napa street, between First and Second-street East, graveled at a cost not to exceed 80 cents per square yard.

Contracts for hauling gravel were awarded to Ranald McDonnell and L. Maffei.

Wm. Trudgen appeared before the Board and advocated the building of a road to Mountain Cemetery from Second-street East. The Cemetery Committee was instructed to look into the matter and report at the next regular meeting.

Trustee Holz called the attention of the Trustees to certain complaints that had been lodged with the local Board of Health.

Trustee Breinbach stated that HE would produce the complaints at the next meeting.

Trustee Holz brought up the question of street lights and inquired if anything had been done by the Committee on Street Lights in regard to the matter.

Trustee Breinbach in reply to the question, stated that HE was in communication with a company dealing in gasoline lamps and HE would soon be in receipt of one of these lamps for street lighting purposes and that it would be tested on the Plaza. May the good Lord deliver the people of Sonoma from such a City Trustee!

The Board then adjourned.

WILL START A HARNESS SHOP.

Well-Known Petaluma Boy Will Embark in Business.

Albert Lambert, who for the past four years has been filling a position with Charles Wilson at his harness shop on lower Main street, says the Petaluma Courier, has resigned his position and has embarked in business for himself at Sonoma. Mr. Lambert has rented a store near the postoffice and on Thursday left this city to take charge of his new place of business.

Albert is a first class workman and during his services at the harness trade has proved to be one of the best. He is a native of Petaluma and his removal will be regretted. He is a member of Company C, National Guard of California, a prominent Forester and has many friends here, who wish him success. He will no doubt receive a liberal patronage from the residents of Sonoma and the surrounding country, and he bears with him the best wishes of success.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS

Recorded From Near - by Towns.

J. P. McDonnell, editor of the Sebastopol Times, a brother of Miss Katie McDonnell and Ranald McDonnell of this place, had a narrow escape from being killed last Saturday. While working his big power press his right arm became caught in the machinery and was badly crushed. When extracted from the press he was unconscious and it took several hours for the doctors to revive him. Fortunately no bones were broken, but for all that he will be deprived of the use of the arm for a long time.

Mrs. George C. Young of Petaluma, who is well known to the old residents of this valley, sustained a severe fracture of her right elbow as she was alighting from her buggy Sunday afternoon. She stepped from the buggy to the sidewalk and as the curb was broken she slipped, causing the accident.

Miss Minnie Coulter, County Superintendent of Schools, and Miss Althea Hoag of Santa Rosa had a miraculous escape from serious injury, if not death, while driving near Bodega Corner, on Friday of last week. The ladies were on a steep mountain grade near the railroad track when the horses they were driving were frightened by a passing locomotive. The animals plunged forward and the next instant commenced to back down the steep embankment. Miss Coulter, who was driving, never lost her presence of mind, and swinging the frightened animals around prevented them from backing over the grade. The wheels of the buggy, however, crumpled and the vehicle was overturned in the middle of the road and both ladies were pinned beneath it. The struggling horses in their efforts to free themselves from the buggy, broke the single-tread snappers, the tugs, and then dashed away. This no doubt saved the lives of the ladies. As it was, Miss Coulter was severely hurt while Miss Hoag escaped with slight bruises.

Dislocated An Ankle.

Oscar MacQuiddy, the popular young clerk in Duhring's store, met with a painful accident last Sunday. He was riding his bicycle in the suburbs of town and while bowling along at a lively clip the forward wheel struck an obstruction in the road. In order to save himself from a fall he took a flying leap from the wheel and landed on his feet all right, but his left foot turned and the ankle was dislocated. The injury has confined him to his home all the week but he expects to be able to resume his duties at the store some time the coming week.

Fractured An Arm.

Archie, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Revie, met with a serious accident last Tuesday in a very simple manner. He stepped on a small tin can and essayed to balance himself on it. Suddenly the can slipped from under his feet and he was thrown to the ground. He fell sideways and his entire weight forced his right arm underneath him, fracturing one of the bones. The little fellow's arm was set by Dr. Thomson and at latest accounts the youngster's arm was on the mend.

A Typical South African Store

O. R. Larson of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record. For sale by F. Duhring.

Glen Ellen News Items

Big forest fires seem to be prevailing everywhere and Glen Ellen, not to be outdone even when it comes to fires, is having a big one now. At the present writing the hills beyond the town toward Napa are all ablaze. The fire started Tuesday afternoon from a spark from the smokestack of a railway engine.

The blaze started in Will Ashe's pasture and spread to the hills at once. Mr. Meddock, who has a country home on Stuart creek back of the Quien ranch, lost buildings, furniture and everything. Mr. Meddock and family were absent in San Francisco when the fire devastated his place. It was only by the greatest exertion that Mrs. Delmar's house was saved. The Youngman ranch was also surrounded by fire, and several times the roof of the dwelling house was ablaze but the volunteer fire-fighters worked with a will and saved the building. Every body living in the hills have packed their household goods and taken everything movable down into the valley.

We all turned out and worked night and day to save the hillside homes. Mr. Ping and his crew from the California Home rendered valuable aid in assisting to squelch the flames. About twenty thousand acres of pasture and timber land have so far been burned over and the end is not yet.

The ladies of this vicinity provided bountifully for the fire fighters. Plenty of nice food and hot coffee, which is needless to say were enjoyed. The damage occasioned by the fire will amount to several thousand dollars already and still raging—all caused by an old engine that ought to be in the scrap pile instead of on the road. It throws out sparks by the bushel every time it passes by, and these dry fields are very dangerous.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, OCT. 4, 1902

HOMEY, BUT AMIABLE.

Ugly Men Who Were Able to Fascinate the Fair Sex.

One of the men who possessed the lady killing faculty to a most surprising degree was Napoleon Bonaparte's rival in the affections of Marie Louise, the infamous and all powerful Neipperg. He was an ugly creature, with small abilities and yet smaller fortune, and he had broken many hearts about the Austrian court before Marie Louise saw and fell furiously in love with him. With everything to lose and nothing to gain by her encouragement of the man, she left no stone unturned until she was able to make herself Neipperg's wife.

In the eyes of the world it was a terrible degradation for the widow of the French emperor to become the wife of an Austrian count, but she cared not a whit what the world said, as was the case with the women who ran after the ugly spendthrift Wilkes and the mad Duc de Richelieu.

Wilkes was famous in his day all over England not only as lord mayor and chamberlain and a very loud talking patriot, but as the ugliest man of his time and the most admired by the women. He flouted and ill treated all of them with the exception of his daughter, but it had not the desired effect of cooling their affections.

As to the Duc de Richelieu, though men could not tolerate him, when he was shut up in the Bastille crowds of women, old and young and rich and poor, used to collect every day at the hour when he took his exercise on the parapets and adore him from a distance and deplore the incarceration of so charming a person.

Theodore Hook was another ugly man who was irresistible to the softer sex, for it is proved clearly that when a man is agreeable to women they care not in the least what his personal appearance may be. Liszt proved this.

When an old man, with a hard, ugly face, women begged permission to kiss his ugly hands and raved and sentimentalized over him as though he were Adonis' self. Dozens of schoolgirls and countesses who worshipped at his shrine cared not a pin for his music nor understood a note of it, but were keenly alive to the charm of his personality, which no woman, so far as we know, was ever able or willing to withstand.

A Remedy For Legal Rust.

The young lawyer was floundering in a tangle of his own making in a case he had before a supreme court justice, who is known, says the New York Tribune, as the humorist of the bench.

The justice listened attentively to the young man's efforts to disentangle himself, but after awhile he was visibly impatient, and the young man perceived that the time had come for excuses. So he began:

"You see, your honor, to be perfectly frank with you, I am the least bit rusty on methods of procedure in cases of this nature. I trust that your honor will bear with me and advise me in the matter."

"Why, certainly," replied the justice, smiling. "I will be only too glad to advise you."

The face of the young lawyer began to brighten, only to be shrouded in gloom a moment later, when the justice added:

"My advice to you, young man, is that you go and study law."

Both Made a Confession.

When he made his customary call upon the object of his affections the other evening, the young man displayed more than the ordinary nervousness that usually marked his bearing.

"What's troubling you, George?" asked the lovesick maiden, noticing his condition.

"Oh, I have something to confess to you and I don't know how it will affect you."

"Well, never mind. I'm prepared for anything."

"Clara, I am a somnambulist."

"Oh, pshaw; don't worry! My father is a Unitarian, my mother's a Congregationalist and I'm a hard shell Baptist, but I don't mind changing."—Exchange.

Ancient Ladies' Tailors.

There were, it seems, "ladies' tailors" and tailor made dresses in the days of Queen Elizabeth. A contributor of the Tailor and Cutter has been visiting Cumnor and was shown a letter written by the ill fated Amy Robsart shortly before her death at Cumnor House, which Sir Walter Scott describes in "Kenilworth." It was to a Mr. William Edney, tailor at the Tower, and refers to the alteration of a gown he was making for her and contains a promise to see him paid. The unfortunate lady died before the gown was finished, and the poor tailor had to wait for five years before he was paid by the Earl of Leicester.

Excursions to the East

Those contemplating an Eastern trip will be interested to know that the Rio Grande System is operating via the Scenic Line of the World daily excursion cars through from the Pacific Coast without change to Denver, Kansas City, Omaha, Chicago, St. Louis, New York, Boston and intermediate points.

These are the Pullman Ordinary or Tourist sleepers, provided with comfortable berths, bedding and linen of the Pullman standard. They have separate lavatories, are well lighted and heated, and in fact only differ from the more expensive "standard" cars in the character of the upholstery and inside finishing.

Besides the colored porter an Excursion Manager accompanies the cars for the sole purpose of looking after the welfare and comfort of his party.

There is no charge beyond the regular railroad and sleeping car rates to those who accompany these excursions.

If you are interested, let us quote you the lowest rates and give you more details, and also furnish you with illustrated books descriptive of the grandest mountain scenery on the American continent.

DEFENSE OF THE UNION.

"The Rose Among Roots" Finds Its Champion.

The onion is one of those strenuous vegetables about which one cannot be indifferent. One either loves it or else utterly repudiates it and everybody who has any trafficking with it. If one never had to take one's onions at second hand, it would not be so bad. If the law would only set apart one day a week for the consumption of onions and forbid it under penalty of fine and imprisonment — preferably imprisonment — at all times, it would be a boon to the world. The onion hater would at least know when to take to the woods and how long to stay there.

As for banishing the onion from the kitchen, that would be a crime. There have been poets who have sung its praises, but perhaps some of the prose rhapsodies are just as eloquent. For instance, if you want to crush your neighbor with a supercilious eye, just ask him if he knows that the onion is called "the rose among roots." Ask him if he knows that "without it there would be no gastronomic art;" that "its presence lends color and enchantment to the most modest dish;" its absence reduces the rarest dainty to hopeless insipidity and the dinner to despair. It is quite possible that your haughty neighbor may decline to follow this hint and may show signs of being plunged into despair pending the addition of onions to his own menu. The anti-onionist is a stiff necked party. — Providence Journal.

Many Colored Diamonds.

One naturally thinks of diamonds as having no color except that gained by reflection of light, but all diamonds are not white.

The most beautiful and precious of all stones is the red diamond, which surpasses even the ruby in beauty.

Dark blue diamonds, varying only from sapphires in quality and in the exquisite play of colors peculiar to the diamond, are very handsome gems.

Black and rose colored diamonds are also rare, but the green is scarce, but when it does occur is more brilliant than the finest emerald, says Home Notes.

The most perfect collection is in the Vienna museum. It is in the form of a bouquet, the different flowers being represented by stones of corresponding color. The stones were collected by Virgil von Heimricher, a young Tyrolean, who spent many years in the diamond mines.

His Misbehaved Limb.

"A cork leg is no end of a bore," said the man who limped. "Just think of it! I was at a dinner party the other night and it was my happy lot to have a most charming damsel fall to my share at the feast. We conversed most pleasantly through the oysters and the soup, but when the fish came on she became silent and seemed unaccountably embarrassed. To draw her from this mood I redoubled my efforts to please, but in response she only flushed and looked angry. Finally, interrupting me in the midst of a little mot which I had composed carefully while dressing for the dinner, she said, sotto voce: "I'll thank you to stop squeezing my foot!"

"Imagine my embarrassment! I had been treading upon her toes with my cork foot—of course without knowing it. It is an annoying thing to have to explain to a young lady at a social festivity. Nevertheless I was forced to do so. She accepted my apology and then proceeded to injure my feelings by giggling."

Horsepower Measurement.

A horsepower is the force required to lift a dead weight of 33,000 pounds one foot a minute. To find the horsepower of an engine, multiply the area of the piston in inches by the average steam pressure in pounds per square inch. Multiply the product by the travel of the piston in feet per minute and divide that product by 33,000. If an engine is rated at seventy-three horsepower, it will raise 33,000 pounds one foot seventy-three times in one minute.

Birds of Iceland.

The bird fauna of Iceland is credited with 103 species. Of these three are residents, twenty-seven summer migrants, twenty-one occasional visitors and eighteen rare stragglers. The land birds are few, including only seven residents and five that come in summer to breed. The great auk once resorted to the island, but the most interesting birds now probably are the northern wren, the great northern dove and the Iceland falcon. Singing birds are few.
